Reunion – Last Call

Joe Roche (CO / Editor)
SS485@COMCAST.NET

This is the last newsletter that will be issued prior to the reunion (May 23 – May 28, 2007 – Mobile) so for those of you who were “on the line” now is the time to insure that you’ve made your plans and have gotten in all your paperwork which is necessary for our coordination purposes. All information you will need is on the included Signup Sheet. As of this writing, we have about 150 crew members who have signed up in one way or another with another potential 150 who are getting their stuff madly together (i.e. check’s in the mail..). So... it’s official... it will officially be a kick-butt smoke boat reunion where we will see, once and for all, whether the Sirago, Sea Leopard, or Cutlass wins the “E”!

It is important that you be kept totally “up to date” on this reunion and progress being made so this article will summarize some important facts.

INSIDE THIS ISSUE

- 1-3 REUNION – LAST CALL
- 4 SIRAGO NEWS & NOTES

Although the reunion is officially May 23 (Wed) through May 28th (Mon), most folks seem to be arriving on Thursday the 24th and this is the first day on which we have any “planned” activities. On Thursday evening after check-in, etc. we will be having a “Welcome Aboard” cocktail at the hotel and then will walk a few blocks to Margarita’s Bar and basically “take it over”. The proprietor (a woman) will be welcoming all 3 boats and has offered discount prices for many food and beverage items PROVIDED that you are wearing a name tag and/or have a boat hat or shirt on to differentiate you from the local rabble that may just want a deal. Remember folks... this is Memorial Day weekend so there will be plenty of Veteran Friendly activities going on and this is the first one you will see when you get there.

The hotel is located right in the heart of the old part of Mobile so you will be easily able to tour by foot many wonderful places without having to use a bus or anything and the Hospitality Suite we have at the hotel is the most huge one we have ever had at any facility in my memory with glass windows looking out over the River toward the Bay so you will truly be treated to classy service at this place.

The MOST important things to sign up for, therefore are the “Welcome Aboard” that I just mentioned and then on Friday we will have a wonderful Lunch at the Hotel with a guest speaker. Dinner that evening will be at Battleship Park where the USS Alabama is and that’s another event you will want to attend.

On Saturday we will be spending from late morning to late afternoon at that same place conducting the ORI Competition Games at Battleship Park. Lunch is on your own there and you will find no problems getting a bite to eat there while we are in our various competitions. There is nothing you need to sign up for during the "day" on Saturday nor any up front cost to you... just plan on hopping on one of our provided buses to get yourself out there and participate in the competition.

Of course, on Saturday night we will have our Banquet back at the hotel so you should definitely sign up for that. We will have live music, prizes, awards, and plenty of good food.

On Sunday the 27th there will be a "Farewell Breakfast" that you should consider. This is the only breakfast that we are doing in a special way. You will be getting your own breakfasts on the other days you are there. All the other things we have indicated on the signup form are for your benefit and you can sign up for whatever you like in addition to what I am recommending above.

I would also recommend that you think about a "shirt" and a "boat hat" as indicated on the back of the signup form. Many of you who have already sent in your forms sort of "overlooked" this or figured you'd see what they looked like when you got there. We will be ordering "extra" shirts and hats but we're not going to plan boatloads of the stuff as we don't want inventory left over. Therefore, I'd suggest you include this on your signup....and... if you already sent in your signup before and forgot about it, I'd suggest using the signup sheet in THIS newsletter to send in an extra check to insure you are not left without.

The weather will be nice (we put in a LOGREQ specifically for this in advance) and, as stated in previous newsletters, we guarantee no hurricanes. We ARE in control of this reunion and you WILL be sorry if you miss movement, but that's not our problem.

Here is the latest list of those who have indicated they are planning to come. If you find yourself on this list and know you are not coming, please give Mike Bickel an email to let him know at:
